SESPA/SCIENCE FOR THE PEOPLE is an organization of scientists, engineers, teachers and all others united to challenge the current trends in science.

It argues that science is inevitably political, and in the context of contemporary U.S. corporate capitalism, that it largely contributes to the exploitation and oppression of most of the people, both in this country and abroad. It calls for a reorientation of scientific work and suggests ways in which scientific workers and concerned people affected by science (everyone!) can redirect research to further meaningful social change.
